The Senate Economics Committee Inquiry into Competition within the Australian Banking Sector has generated much heat and some light.

- « How will its Report judge the Government's "Competitive and Sustainable Banking System" proposals released in December 2010?
- « How effective will the Report judge the degree of competition to be?
- « Is the Report likely to lead to substantive changes in banking regulation?

These are among the questions to be considered by the panel.

Panel Speakers:

- « Michael Ullmer, Deputy Chief Executive Officer, National Australia Bank;
- « Ian Harper, Director, Deloitte Access Economics;
- « Steven Münchenberg, Chief Executive Officer, Australian Bankers' Association; and
- « Graeme Samuel AC, Chairman, Australian Competition and Consumer Commission.

Moderator: Professor Kevin Davis, Research Director, Australian Centre for Financial Studies

This event would suit: economists, analysts, banking and finance professionals, finance academics, all financial market and investment practitioners.

About the Australian Centre for Financial Studies:

About the Economic Society:

The Victorian Branch of the Economic Society of Australia (ESA) is an association for professional economists and people who have an interest in the economics discipline. Its members are employed in a wide range of occupations and organizations, ranging from higher education institutions to private sector corporations and the public sector. The Branch conducts a range of events and public forums and publishes a regular newsletter Ceteris Paribus. The Economic Society of Australia has, since its inception in 1925, focused on economic matters of public concern through open discussion and the encouragement of economic debate. In 2010 the ESA hosted a visit to Australia by Professor Joseph Stiglitz, a recipient of the Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Sciences. In addition, the ESA encourages the study of economics, provides events which investigate local and general economic problems, and publishes two highly regarded professional journals, the Economic Record and Economic Papers.
